Airliner Plunges At Louisville; 23 Of 41 Persons Aboard Killed

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The death toll from the worst aviation disaster in Kentucky's history climbed to 23 today when stewardess Dorothy Jean Bush, 32, of San Antonio succumbed.

Twenty-two persons, including 20 Puerto Rican soldiers, were killed when a chartered airliner nearing the end of its journey went out of control late Monday and crashed in the center of Louisville's Standiford Field.

The remaining 18 of the ship's 41 passengers remained in critical condition in three hospitals.

The twin-engine C-46, one of five chartered by the Army to transfer 140 soldiers from Camp Kilmer, N. J. to Ft. Knox, Ky., nearly touched ground when undetermined trouble developed.

After pulling up to about 400 feet, the liner nosed down and crushed with a terrific impact. Bodies were scattered as far as 100 feet. Some were decapitated.

Miss Bush was the only member of the crew of three who escaped immediate death. Resort Airlines of Miami, Fla., operator of the flight, gave her address as Miami, but hospital records listed her as from San Antonio.

The pilot, Capt. Wharton Moller, 33, and his assistant, Co-Capt. John DeWitt Pickel, 31, both of San Antonio, Tex., were dead when ambulances arrived.

None of the survivors could tell what happened.

Noses Down Suddenly

One witness, Carl South, a transportation agent for Trans World Airlines, said the plane came into view at about 1,000 feet and descended in a normal manner. He said he noticed the left elevator flap on the tail drop and the plane pulled up. All at once it nosed down and crashed into the middle of the spacious field.

The plane broke into two parts and both engines burst into flames. Most of the survivors seemed to come out of the tail section.

Those first on the scene said the injured were crying and screaming and muttering invocations to "Maria," the Virgin Mary in the Puerto Ricans' Spanish tongue.

Fire Capt. Marion Norris said: "There wasn't much we could do about the fire. People were lying all over the place, and we handled those we could."

Truman Advises Big Defense Buildup To Negotiate With Reds

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says the United States must build "a really strong defense" and, from a position of strength, show willingness to negotiate "in all sincerity" for a solution of its differences with the Soviet bloc.

Truman, urging nonpartisan support for this program, says the negotiations should be "in firm agreement with our allies and from a position of united strength."

He spoke Monday night at a dinner of the Four Freedoms Foundation at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Truman received the foundation's fifth annual Four Freedoms Award.

Too Much Suspicion

Fourteen hundred persons attended the dinner of the foundation, established to work for the fredoms defined by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1941. These are freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from want and freedom from fear. An award plaque cited Truman for "inspiring leadership in the cause of the four freedoms at home and abroad and his valiant and unyielding struggle in the cause of civil rights."

In calling for a fight for freedoms, Truman said: "All across our country there are people at work, stirring up suspicion of the United Nations, of our allies, of our own public servants, of our fellow citizens. All across our country there are zealots who are clamoring for somebody's head."

He called his targets "old isolationists" become "The new isolationists, the new imperialists"—and at one point, "morticians of the mind."

No Names Given

Truman declared there now is an "investigating frenzy" in the nation, and he said the forces behind it are also seeking an American isolationism which he contended would eventually doom the free world if put into effect. He added:

"Only the whole free community, we and our allies together, our resources and theirs combined, is strong enough and big enough to meet the threat to freedom and give us victory for freedom's cause."

Truman did not name any of the people he criticized. Basically, he said, they are the "die-hard isolationists of 12 years ago."—the people who say "the really important thing is to cut taxes, whether the danger is over or not."

Truman's address was broadcast on the Columbia Broadcasting System radio network.

Hoover Reform Commission Set For New Survey

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new Hoover government reorganization commission, patterned after the earlier one but with wider powers, becomes an official entity today in oath-taking ceremonies at the White House.

The 12-member group headed by former President Herbert Hoover has seven Republicans and five Democratic members and half a million dollars to look for further economies in a government now costing about 70 billions a year.

Report In 1955

The law creating the new commission directed it to submit its final report not later than May 31, 1955. Presumably preliminary reports will be submitted before that time.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark),. a member of the old commission and the new one, said in an interview he intends to urge the commission not only to make reorganization recommendations but to draft legislation or proposed executive orders to submit with its report.

"In the past there have been different interpretations of the commission's recommendation," he said. "If the commission will set down its recommendations in the form of proposed executive orders or of bills, there won't be any need for controversy over its findings."

Ferguson New Member

The Republicans on the new commission are Hoover; Atty. Gen. Brownell; Arthur S. Flemming, defense mobilzation director; Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio; Sen. Ferguson of Michigan; Solomon Hollister, dean of the School of Civil Engineering at Cornell University, and Sidney A. Mitchell, New York investment banker.

Democrats are Sen. McClellan; Rep. Holifield of California; Robert G. Storey, Dallas, dean of Southern Methodist University Law School; James A. Farley of New York, former postmaster general and Democratic national chairman, and Joseph P. Kennedy of Massachusetts, former ambassador to Great Britain.

Boy, 6, Abducted From School; No Ransom Note

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The millionaire parents of a 6-year-old boy, kidnaped by a woman who prayed before the abduction, said today they were willing to go to any lengths to get their child back safely. They said no ransom note had been received.

The boy, Robert Cosgrove Greenlease Jr., was lured from his classes in an exclusive private school Monday on a ruse.

Says She's Boy's Aunt

The woman gained admittance to the school, Notre Dame de Sion, by telling a nun Mrs. Greenlease had suffered a heart attack and the boy had to be taken to the hospital. She said she was the boy's aunt.

The nun suggested the woman pray for Mrs. Greenlease in the school chapel while she waited for the child to be called from his class. The woman walked into the chapel and knelt.

On leaving the school with Bobby, the woman remarked:

"I'm not a Catholic, but I hope God heard my prayers."

The FBI declined to comment when asked whether it was taking part in the case.

News Held Back

Announcement of the kidnaping was withheld from the press and radio for three hours. Police Chief Bernard C. Brannon explained authorities feared earlier disclosure might result in death or injury to the child.

Greenlease, 71, is a distributor for Cadillac.

"I don't know why anybody would do anything like this," he said.

The woman, described as chunky, about 35 years old and having reddish brown hair, left the school with the boy in a taxicab.

The nun then telephoned the Greenlease home, talked with Mrs. Greenlease and learned she was not ill. Then it was discovered the boy had been taken from the school on a ruse.

Mother Collapses

Later the taxicab driver, Willard Creech, 62, told police the woman and young Greenlease left his cab at a parking lot only a few blocks from the school. They got into a late model blue sedan with Kansas license plates and drove off.

"He didn't cry or anything while he was in the cab," Creech said. "She kept talking to him about how things were at home and things like that.

"She asked him about a couple

Union Squabble Brewing War At New York Docks

NEW YORK (AP) — The Iternational Longshoremen's Association, faced with increasing defections to a new AFL union, today threatened a strike which could detonate full-scale dock war with the rival group.

The ILA, ousted from the AFL a week ago for failure to cleanse itself of racketeering, posed the walkout threat for a minute after Wednesday midnight in contract negotiations with eastern shippers.

Locals Bolt

While the ILA dealt with employers, it also had to meet inroads from the new International Longshoremen's Association, AFL, which was chartered by the AFL after the ILA was ousted.

Latest blow to the ILA came Monday night when two locals with 1,500 men bolted it to join the ILA-AFL. A third local started the secession movement here a few days ago. There also have been defections elsewhere.

The ILA also was reported in the throes on an intra-union squabble for leadership. ILA President Joseph P. Ryan checked into French Hospital Monday for observation.

Demands Stepped Up

Negotiations between the ILA and the New York Shipping Association took a sudden turn for the worse Monday, with ILA negotiators increasing their demands and making the strike threat.

ILA previously had reduced its demands for a wage - welfare package increase from 50 cents an hour to 10 cents. Patrick J. Connolly, ILA executive vice president, said Sunday there would be no strike.

But Monday there were rank and file rumblings, with handbills appearing on the docks calling for a "no contract, no work" policy. Then the 120-man ILA negotiating committee said it would recommend a strike if there were no agreement by noon Wednesday.

Whole Coast Affected

At the same time the ILA committee, reversing itself, asked the employers for a 13-cent-an-hour package increase. A committee spokesman said a strike would affect the Atlantic Coast from Portland, Maine, to Hampton Roads, Va.

Employers have offered an 8½-cent-an-hour package boost. Longshoremen now earn as basic $2.27 an hour.

The ILA has claimed to represent about 60,000 longshoremen—about 35,000 in New York, 15,000 elsewhere on the Atlantic Coast, and the others in Great Lakes and river ports.

The shipping association represents 170 shipping and stevedoring firms.

Justice Department Program Ousts 578 Undesirable Aliens

WASHINGTON (AP)—A rundown on the Justice Department's program for getting undesirables out of the country today showed 578 aliens so classified have been excluded since the start of the year.

Dep. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers commented, in a speech prepared for an Immigration and Naturalization Service conference, "We can well be proud of these figures and the number which will follow in the ensuing months."

Hoodlums Included

Of the total, 536 were described as criminal, immoral, or narcotic addicts, and the 42 others as subversive.

Justice Department officials said today that when the Republicans took over on Jan. 20, they inherited from the Democratic administration a "preferred list" of proposed exclusions which included 96 racketeers and 33 subversives, mostly Communists.

Officials said this elite group has now been expanded to cover 131 accused as racketeers and 142 as subversives, a total of 273.

Of these, 3 notorious hoodlums have been actually deported, 50 other persons are under deportation orders, 34 are undergoing denaturalization proceedings.

Costello Case Pending

The three widely known underworld characters actually deported since Jan. 20 were Armando Perillo of New York City, Michael Spinella of Miami and New Jersey, and James De Simone, Kansas City.

Pending cases included:

Joseph Accardi, Newark, N. J.; his brother, Samuel Accardi; Gambler Joe Adonis; Frank Costello, onetime underworld power, who is serving an 18-month sentence in the federal reformatory at Milan, Mich., for contempt of Congress, and Albert Anastasia, described by the department as long associated with the rackets along the New York-New Jersey waterfront.

Farm Program Just Vote Bait, Bureau President Declares

LANSING (AP) — The federal government's farm program "has degenerated into a bait for votes," Clark L. Brody, executive vice-president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, declared today.

Brody issued a statement to Farm Bureau families as a prelude to their annual convention Nov. 12-13.

Surpluses Wreck Market

The statement was basically a plea for the state bureau to stand behind its 1952 resolution opposing the government's mandatory high support prices and subsidies.

These, Brody said, "have not brought enduring farm prosperity; neither will they do so in the future. It has resulted in unmanageable surpluses that now jeopardize the barket."

Brody declared, "The recent vote on wheat quotas indicates clearly that the unwarranted continuation of this hand-out policy has now maneuvered many farmers into the predicament of determining their next year's income by their vote."

The veteran Farm Bureau head charged Congress with wasting tax dollars by flouting the original intention of the price support program.

Too Much Corn

In Michigan, he said, the Production Marketing Committee is seeking storage for five million bushels of the 1952 corn crop. By next spring, he said, ten million bushels of Michigan's 1953 wheat crop will pass into government ownership.

He said the new wheat quotas will take 400,000 acres out of wheat production, turning it to corn, barley, bean and similar crops, some of which now are in surplus.

"Yet," he said, "in spite of these great expenditures, we are in a period of declining income and narrowing margins between farm costs and returns."

Prison Quartet Bass Asks 6 Months More

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Marcel Sanders, 29, was about to be paroled from the state penitentiary today when he asked the pardons and paroles board to let him stay in prison at least another six months.

He sings bass for the "Prisonnaires," a Negro quartet known in this area for its vocal music and recordings.

Sanders wants a few more months to finish up some recordings. Officials indicated they may go along on the request.

He is serving five years for manslaughter.

Baled Straw Burns

DETROIT (AP)—A fire destroyed 15,000 bales of straw, worth some $6,000, Monday night at Fair Lane, estate of the late Henry Ford in suburban Dearborn. The fire was believed started by spontaneous combustion.

Heat Records Fall

CHICAGO (AP) —Chicago's hot summer season is over but more heat records fell Monday as the mercury climbed to 91.5 degrees.

It was the hottest Sept. 28 on record and the 40th day with temperatures of 90 or higher this year, also a record. It was the sixth day in September with a reading of 90 or above, tying the previous record set last year.

Texas Hot Spell Ruins Cattlemen

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — The drought is hurting some west Texas cattlemen worse today than it did before widespread rains in August greened up some rangeland.

With a searing heat wave setting temperature records under clear skies, it's too late for many pastures to recover this year.

Monday the state drought committee approved resumption of emergency feed shipments to 38 more counties. Cattlemen in 86 of Texas' 254 counties now are able to buy government-owned dry feed at less than market price.

The moisture - devouring heat wave sent temperatures past 100 in much of Texas Monday. Seymour in the north recorded 107, Wichita Falls and Llano 106, Dallas and Fort Worth 105.

The hardest decision of his life faced many a west Texas rancher: with only part of his herd left, a big debt at the bank, and the prospect of another dry winter during which his feed bill and bank debt pile up, should he sell out?

Lansing Police Test Free Bingo

LANSING (AP)—A "free" bingo party, staged here as a test of state anti-gambling statutes, today was under study for possible legal action.

Prosecutor Paul C. Younger and Assistant Attorney General Harry Jackson had before them the reports of city and state police vice squad men who attended the party by invitation of the sponsors.

Exhibit "A" was a basket of groceries won by Det. Sgt. Sigmund Wojtysiak of the city vice squad.

The patrons were charged 75 cents rent for their chairs. Sponsors invited anyone present to play standing up or to bring their own chairs.

The party was staged by the American Pension Club No. 14 and was announced for charitable purposes.

Cecil A. Bradley, promotional director of the club, said the test party was staged on the advice of an attorney who said it would be legal.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Edward Cooper, 40, a Philadelphia welder, was climbing down an iron girder supporting a roof over a transformer platform Monday when the back of his neck touched a copper rod carrying 13,000 volts of electricity.

He was stuck to the girder until an automatic circuit breaker shut off the current. He then dropped unconscious to the platform.

Rescuers lowered him to the ground and he was taken to a hospital in fair condition.

Sen. McCarthy On Honeymoon

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Miss Jean Fraser Kerr, an attractive Brunette who formerly was on his office staff, become man and wife today at St. Matthews Roman Catholic Cathedral.

Dignitaries including Vice President and Mrs. Nixon and Secretary of state and Mrs. Dulles, along with just-folks friends of the senator and his bride, were invited to attend the solemn Catholic rites uniting them after a long courtship.

Miss Kerr, a native of Washington, D. C., who was raised in the Presbyterian faith, has adopted McCarthy's religion.

It is the first marriage for McCarthy, 43, and for Miss Kerr, 29. She is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Kerr and, in her college days, was picked as a beauty queen both at George Washington and Northwestern universities. Her father, William P. Kerr, died some years ago.

McCarthy and his blue-eyed bride have kept secret their honeymoon plans, except to say that a great deal of the trip will be in his native Wisconsin.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

The landlady brought in a plateful of extremely thin slices of bread which dismayed her hungry men boarders. "Did you cut these, Mrs. Brown?" asked one.

"Yes, I cut them" was the stern reply.

"All right," said the boarder, "I'll deal."

Beria's 'Escape' Looks Like Hoax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen McCarthy (R-Wis) says the story that Lavrenty Beria escaped from Russia and would welcome asylum in the United States "begins to appear like a hoax."

"I am not convinced one way or the other," the senator told newsmen Monday, "but it looks more and more as if it is not Beria."

Beria, former boss of the Russian secret police and one of the top men in the Kremlin, was denounced as a traitor by Moscow in July.

Word got out 10 days ago that McCarthy's investigations subcommittee was looking into reports that Beria had managed to flee to a neutral country and would welcome protection in this country.

Subsequently, a Madrid newspaper published unconfirmed reports that the FBI was checking a story that Beria, or someone claiming to be Beria, had parachuted into Spain and was hiding out there.

McCarthy said Monday, for the first time, that the man his group had been checking on was "allegedly in Spain," but he declined to elaborate. He said he expects the Spanish government will release a statement on the matter shortly.

At the same time, the Russians proposed the Big Four and Communist China also meet to consider ways of easing world tensions.

The Russians did not set a date or name a place for the Big Four foreign ministers meeting on Germany. The United States, France, and Britain had suggested that such a conference be held in Lugano, Switzerland, Oct. 15.

Troopers Who Killed Pontiac Bandit Cited

NILES (AP)—A six-man coroner's jury has cited two state police who ran down and killed holdup man Bruce McLeod of Pontiac for "courageous action."

At the same time the Berrien County jury condemned the practice of sending law enforcement officers alone on dangerous assignments, citing the kidnaping of Cass County deputy Fred Gardner by McLeod.

End Of Crime Spree

The jury sitting Monday commended state troopers Andrew Muth and Patrick Lyons. They asked that the troopers' action be contained in a full report at state police headquarters.

Muth and Lyons chased McLeod, a 23-year-old ex-convict, Saturday and shot him down. It was the end of a wild crime spree that began Friday night when McLeod robbed a Highland Park supermarket of $8,000.

McLeod then kidnaped two motorists, stole three cars and disarmed two deputies, kidnaping one of them. Muth and Lyons ran McLeod down in a fast automobile chase. Muth testified to the jury that he fired twice in the air and McLeod had fired twice at him before he shot the desperado.

More Loot Found

The jury said Muth had acted "only in the line of duty" and "at great personal risk to his own life."

Meanwhile in Bloomfield township near Pontiac, police found two sacks containing $608. They said the money was probably part of the loot McLeod had gathered in the robbery.

When he was shot, state police at Niles found $3,975 on his body.

Norton estate, at 8:15 tonight at the Junior High School to outline the plan of the Institute to assist the employes of the Escanaba Daily Press to acquire the newspaper.

At the last meeting of the Board of Education, a letter from Mr. Martindell was read by Mr. Frost in which the American Institute of Management presented a firm offer to purchase the newspaper at a price of $275,000 on Oct. 1, 1963, subject to the lease of the employes being entered into.

The employes have presented a proposal to pay $25,000 for a 10-year lease, to pay annual rental payments of $20,000 and containing an option to purchase the property for $275,000 at the end of the lease period.

The proposal of Mr. Martindell would assure the Board of Education that the School District would realize the $275,000 purchase price at the end of the 10-year lease in the event that the employes failed to exercise their option to purchase.

A cash offer of $400,000 from a syndicate of Upper Peninsula publishers, headed by Frank Russell Jr., of Marquette, and a cash offer of $376,000 from Max Lavine, of Superior, Wis., also are under consideration. Partners with Mr. Russell in the syndicate of publishers are George Osborn, Sault Ste. Marie, and John W. Rice, Houghton.

Kiwanians Hear Outdoor Booster

Benefits gathered from contact with the great out-of-doors can not be counted in dollars and cents Escanaba Kiwanis Club members were told Monday by L. W. (Bill) Johnson, of Waupaca, Wis., nationally known authority on guns, ammunitioin and sports afield.

"Hunters and fishermen who want to reckon their returns merely in the amount of fish and birds and game they bring home might better give it up and go to the meat market for their poultry and meat and fish", Johnson declared.

He maintained that the bigger benefits come through health, relaxation and self control that result from association with woods and streams as a hunter and fisherman.

The speaker strongly supported the practice of giving the youth of America an early start on instruction on the safe handling of firearms, and commended the work of junior rifle clubs in this work.

"There is no cleaner sport than shooting," Johnson commented.

Along with good hunting and fishing must also come conservation and the elimination of wasted game through careless shooting, the Kiwanians were told.

"But we must all give a hand if we are to keep what we have," Johnson said. "We can't be takers and never put."

"You have a moral obligation to think about your sons and daughters and grandchildren. Let them have some of the fun that you have had in the healthy outdoors."

Johnson pointed out that the hunting and fishing fraternity, approximately one-fifth of the population of the United States, represented big business running to between 9 and 10 billion dollars annually. He advised local boosters to help make their natural resources more attractive, thus keeping their share of this huge spending budget.

The arms expert was introduced by John Fawcett, Delta Hardware Co. manager, who was also a guest of the Kiwanis Club for the meeting Monday.

Weatherman Helps Football Fan

When John Manning of 810 1st Ave. S. bought four expensive tickets recently for a Green Bay Packers game, he didn't realize he was going to need an assist from Weatherman S. E. Decker before he ever got near the gridiron.

The meteorologist found the four rain-soaked tickets in a bank envelope Friday morning near the corner of 9th and Ludington.

Using the bank envelope as a clue he notified the bank.

Friday night Manning looked for his tickets and couldn't find them. He remembered he'd been in the bank, and phoned there.

Tickets and football fan are now together again.

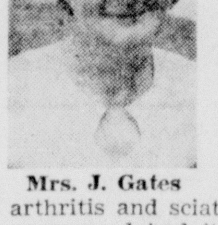
I WAS DOOMED FOR A WHEEL CHAIR BEFORE DISCOVERING O-JIB-WA

Arthritis caused my knees to swell like balloons. Thanks to O-JIB-WA BITTERS, I am entirely better now, says Mrs. Jennie Gates, 2376 N. Cedar, Holt, Michigan.



Mrs. J. Gates

"I am most happy to tell others of what O-JIB-WA BITTERS has done for me. I was told that nothing would ever help my arthritis and that I was doomed for a wheel chair for the rest of my life. I am entirely better now and walking perfectly again thanks to O-JIB-WA. I suffered from arthritis and sciatica for over 10 years, and had it mostly in my hips, legs and knees. Most of the time my knees were swelled like balloons and so big that you couldn't tell I had any. The only way I could move around at all was to grasp a chair or by sheer strength of my arms on a cane or crutch. I tried everything I ever heard of without success, but was determined not to give up, even though at times it was all I could do to drag my legs. Many times the pain was so bad that I actually fell down. My ankles were so sore I couldn't stand on my feet, and it was a task just to get out of a chair. My husband read about O-JIB-WA BITTERS in our paper and told me he would get a bottle for me to try. I took the medicine about a month before I could see any benefit, but from then on, I continually improved, and now I am all better. It's wonderful to be free of pain and stiffness again, especially after suffering for so long. I can't find words to express my gratitude for what O-JIB-WA has done for me. I want to boost it to the highest extent. I have told many people about O-JIB-WA BITTERS and know that it has helped them. My druggist started taking O-JIB-WA because of what it has done for me, and now he personally recommends O-JIB-WA BITTERS to his other customers."

Explain Skyway 'Phone System

The use of super-high frequencies, called microwaves, in transmitting telephone conversations and television programs across the nation was demonstrated to the Escanaba Rotary Club Monday noon by Clarence Wall, manager of Michigan Bell Telephone exchange at Menominee.

By the radio relay method, with the microwaves focused like a searchlight and aimed from one tower to the next, communication has been made possible never dreamed of only a few years ago, Wall explained.

Yet the future holds new developments only now being explored, he added. One of the latest is a tiny device worn on the wrist, which sounds only when the individual is sought to answer the 'phone.

"Bell Telephone scientists believe there are many marvels yet to come in the field of communication," Wall said.

One of these will be new and less costly methods of transmitting the video or vision waves for television, which will permit television stations being more widely distributed in the United States.

Wall presented a demonstration in radio relay that was both interesting and informative. The microwaves carrying a program of music were directed, interrupted, bent and "bounced" to show how they can be controlled to serve in communications.

With transcontinental relay systems now in use it is possible to transmit 2,400 phone conversations at one time, in itself an economical use of the limited number of frequencies assigned for this purpose, Wall explained.

The relay towers are located 30 to 35 miles apart and without sight interference between. Atop each tower is equipment to receive the directed radio waves, increase their strength, and transmit them on to the next tower.

Disposal Plant Is Burglarized Here

The Escanaba sewage disposal plant located west of the airport was entered sometime last night by thieves who made off with one portable radio and more than 11 pounds of mercury, it was reported to Escanaba police today.

A glass cutter had been used to open a hole in a window from which the door was opened. Workmen arriving at the plant this morning found the doors wide open and materials and equipment ransacked.

The mercury was in three pottery jugs. One jug contained 10 pounds of mercury, another one pound, and third was about one-half full. Value of the mercury was estimated at about $70 or $80.

The mercury is used to seal a bearing on filter equipment at the disposal plant. A check is being made of inventory lists to determine if there are other losses.

Employment Drops By 400

There were 400 fewer persons working in Delta and Schoolcraft County on Sept. 25 than there were 30 days earlier, Whitney R. Dixon, manager of the Escanaba office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, has reported in a summary of employment conditions during those 30 days.

Total number of unemployed—600—rose only about 200, however, since of the 400 who became unemployed, about 200 were college students who went back to school, and women who wanted only short-time jobs in canning season. These persons are no longer in the labor market.

The decrease in employment, which was in non-farm fields, hit about 150 workers in food processing, due to the end of the bean canning season. Also affected were about 150 workers in resort and tourist industries, due to the end of heavy tourist traffic on Labor Day, Dixon said. About 100 workers in the machinery and electrical machinery manufacturing industries lost their jobs.

Dixon predicted there would be no increase in employment during the next several months. Employment is expected to stay at the present level for 30 to 60 days. Then it will drop 400 to 500 more when inclement weather shuts down resort and tourist industries, construction, and ore shipping.

Labor demand decreased substantially during the 30 days ending Sept. 25, Dixon said. Openings for workers in manufacturing and construction became very limited.

There still are jobs open for maids, waitresses, charwomen, stenographers, and hard-to-find types of skilled and professional workers.

The Escanaba office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission is at 1323 Ludington St.

ATTENTION!

The temporary officers of the local Television Association, invite all interested parties in the surrounding area, associated with television sales and service, to their meeting, Wed., Sept. 30th, regarding the formulation of a permanent Television Association. The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. sharp, at the Sherman Hotel. Please make every effort to be there.

Comparing Speeches At Paper Convention Shows Contrasts

IT is interesting to analyze and compare the speeches given by Gov. Williams and by E. G. Bennett, head of the Escanaba Paper Company, at the banquet session of the tri-state convention of three paper workers unions at The Terrace Sunday night.

In his address, Gov. Williams, who never misses a chance to be electioneering regardless of the occasion, talked politics. He upbraided the Eisenhower administration on such issues as farm policies, labor relations and interest rates. He accused the President of "broken promises" and sought to set up a barrier between the Eisenhower administration and "the people." The intimation, of course, was that Gov. Williams and his party represent "the people" whereas President Eisenhower and his Republican administration do not.

Naturally, it makes one wonder how President Eisenhower ever was elected inasmuch as he is, according to Gov. Williams, in opposition to "the people". However, the governor assured his listeners that in the end "the people" will win out, presumably against their oppressors.

Mr. Bennett, on the other hand, talked of constructive things, such as how labor and management can work together for their common good. And with extreme candor, the paper company official conceded that on at least one occasion in the past he had neglected to correct adverse conditions that had been called to his attention by the unions.

He praised the union for their cooperation, for the quality of their leadership and for maintaining good relationships with company management. He welcomed the vigorous part that the unions play in making improved working conditions for the employes.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

One of the most intriguing questions posed in the many letters I have received since starting this column is this one from a San Bernardino, Calif., reader. "Could you give your readers," she writes, "some insight into the language of animals in foreign countries? Now, obviously, a cow or a dog makes the same noise whether she be in France, Russia, or Tennessee. But while a Tennessee-born cow is supposed to say 'Moo,' what does a French cow say, or a Russian cow—if Russian cow-talk is not shrouded in the secrecy of the Iron Curtain?"

Here is a fascinating topic indeed but one slightly beyond my comparatively limited linguistic abilities—especially those Russian phonetics! So I called on my good friend Charles Berlitz who teaches the teachers at the Berlitz language schools. With his help (Mr. Berlitz converses readily in twenty-seven languages and dialects but modestly admits to complete fluency in only twenty-one) I am able today to report on what sounds the humans in France, Spain and Russia think their favorite household animals make.

(Because most newspapers do not have the Russian alphabet or the special accent marks necessary for French and Spanish in their type fonts, we shall indicate only the phonetic pronunciation, not the literal spelling, of each sound.)

In America, of course, a pig says "oink," but in France, he says "grwahng," in Spain "troo" and in Russia "hroo-hroo." The properly reared American cow, as my correspondent noted, says "moo," but in France it says "meuh," in Spain "mu" and in Russia, likewise, "mu." An American dog, of course, says "bow-wow" but his French cousin says "wah-wah," Spanish pups say "goo-wow" while the Russian growls "how-how." And the mouse, which in America says "squeak, squeak," says "kwee-kwee" in France, "chee-chee" in Spain and "psk-psk" in Moscow. Around our house, the youngsters have taken to imitating these foreign animal sounds with glee and gusto. Maybe yours will enjoy the game, too.

Questions and Answers

Q—When he announced the $2 billion cut in estimated federal expenditures during fiscal 1954, did Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey predict a balanced budget?

A—No. He estimated that the fiscal 1954 deficit will be $3.8 billion. Humphrey said, however, that the Administration will be "well under way" toward balancing the cash budget before next June 30, barring "unexpected" developments.

• • •

Q—Which three matters do Members of Congress consider the key issues of the second session, which will convene in January, and of the 1954 election campaign?

A—A large majority of the 223 Members who voted in a Congressional Quarterly poll tabulated Sept. 4 called Korea the top issue, followed in order by tax reduction and economy in government.

Economic Outlook Gives Reason for Calmness

THE official government price index has just hit an all-time high. But some of the other business indicators are down, and this has the worriers practicing their trade with vigor.

Residential housing starts are dropping off. Department stores sales aren't keeping pace with 1952 at this time. Steel production, long at its virtual ceiling around 100 per cent of theoretical capacity, has slipped to the 90's. The stock market, a somewhat discredited barometer, is down. And, of course, farm income has been fading for two years.

No denying these pointers. But it is fair to question how many of the figures are grounds for real pessimism. Admittedly, there is fundamental maladjustment in the farm situation. But the voicing of such speedy general alarms seems to suggest that to some people any change from peak levels is automatically a "recession."

In the dictionary sense, it is. But in the economic sense, one may venture some doubt.

Any economy operated by human beings is bound to have ups and downs. There are periods of abnormal demand, like the war days and the interval when we were beefing up a stricken Europe. But these cannot last forever, nor can we expect that one kind of abnormality will inevitably follow another.

In other words, it is reasonable and normal to anticipate occasional down adjustments from peaks of unusual demand, even in a economy that fundamentally is growing in pace with a growing country.

Nothing would appear more foolish than to see the specter of depression in every sag from a high mark in business. This amounts to proposing that, no matter how extreme the boom, economic health lies only in pressing it constantly onward and upward. The slightest falling off is viewed as a sign of imminent calamity.

Let's say that in some particular field, business was up this spring about 10 per cent over the same period in 1952. That's fine. But the chances are the people involved in that business thought they were in pretty good shape the year before, too. So, if things slack off to the 1952 level, does that spell recession? Nobody thought of it that way in 1952.

It seems a weird sort of psychology that insists we're headed for the rocks unless the black lines on the business charts are pushing through the roof.

This country is big and still growing; it may add 60 million people in the next 22 years. They must be fed, clothed, housed and served. There is tremendous work to be done just keeping up with the population, without considering great economic improvement. So why cry "panic" every time the black lines wobble and slide downhill a bit? We have plenty to be calm about.

The Doctor Says . . .

Varicose Veins Treated Several Ways Successfully

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

"I am a young, attractive mother of twenty-two," writes Mrs. M., "with unsightly veins and swollen ankles. I have been advised to try surgery, but would appreciate a discussion from you on the results, and whether this is dangerous."

This correspondent is indeed unfortunate in having trouble with varicose veins so early in life. They cannot be expected to improve by themselves, and one would certainly think that it would be worth while doing something about them.

The question of what to do about varicose veins is not always the easiest thing to answer. The first thing is to understand what they are. The veins of the legs carry blood back toward the heart; they are equipped with valves at intervals which prevent the blood from flowing backwards.

Sometimes, these valves break down and then the pressure on the walls of the veins increases, causing them to dilate or enlarge. These enlarged veins (which are usually near the surface) are called varicose veins; the flow of blood inside them is also slowed.

It isn't possible to build new valves or to cause the veins to shrink. But on the favorable side these veins are not really necessary because veins farther inside the legs can carry the blood just as well.

This is the reason varicose veins can often be treated so successfully, either by cutting them out or tying them (surgery) or by injecting them with an irritating fluid which causes them to close up entirely.

LET SURGEON DECIDE

The choice of what method to use must, of course, be made by the surgeon, though apparently in recent years surgery has become favored more and more over injections.

Neither of these methods can be considered dangerous in competent hands, but it takes a while for the circulation to be entirely rerouted so convalescence and return to full activity may take some time.

The risk of ulcer formation, swelling of the feet and ankles, or other evidences of poor circulation almost always make attempts to eliminate varicose veins worth while. Elastic stocking or bandages will not cure varicose veins but they are often advisable for special reasons or after an operation.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It isn't supposed to leak out, but Georgia's stern Sen. Dick Russell, leader of the Southern Democrats, wrote a blistering, four-page letter to Secretary of Defense Wilson, taking him over the verbal coals for his softness toward POW collaborators.

A power in the Senate and No. 1 Democrat on the armed services committee, Russell angrily demanded dishonorable discharges for POWs who signed false confessions or turned informer on their fellow prisoners.

This is the inside reason why Wilson suddenly shifted to a tougher attitude toward the prisoners. Previously he had taken the advice of the armed forces policy council, which argued that some prisoners had been tortured and brain-washed beyond endurance and were not mentally responsible for their actions. As a result, he ordered the armed services to consider each case separately and sympathetically.

In his private letter to Wilson, the Georgia declared:

"If we are again compelled to take up arms in our defense with the idea prevalent that the Department of Defense does not distinguish between those who resisted heroically to the last breath as compared with the collaborators and false confessors, I do not see how we can expect the young men from 18 to 25, who must fight our wars, to measure up to what will be expected of them."

"Permit me to suggest," Russell continued, "that it is most important that either you or the President of het head of one of the defense agencies or some member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff make some statement which will let every young American serviceman and young men who will soon be in the service clearly understand that our government strongly disapproves of both collaborators and false confessors.

"My views may be extreme," Russell added forcefully, "but I believe that those who collaborated and the signers of false confessions should be immediately separated from the service under conditions other than honorable . . . it is evident that the defense agencies under your direction hold other views."

The Georgian also telephoned Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and gave him the same view. The admiral listened sympathetically, but passed the buck to Wilson.

WASHINGTON WHIRL

Senate Labor chairman Alex Smith has urged the White House not to name a secretary of labor until Congress comes back. He argues that it will give opponents too much time to dig up ammunition against the appointee before he can be confirmed . . . . Senator McCarthy's boy wonder, Roy Cohn, has been trying to shush up the fact that he was once almost fired from the Justice Department, His father, a Democratic politician, pulled strings to get young Roy appointed to the New York district attorney's office. But the D. A., Myles Lane, soon had enough of him and threatened to fire him. Again the elder Cohn pulled Democratic strings, and then—Attorney General Jim McGranery transferred Roy out of Lane's jurisdiction. But McGranery also became fed up with the young man and notified him bluntly that he had two days to get out. Roy begged to be kept on, however, until he could transfer to McCarthy's committee . . . . Another McCarthy assistant, Don Surine, was fired from the FBI for conspiring with a lady in a white slavery case. This is a matter of sworn testimony in the U. S. district court.

TROOPS OUT OF GERMANY

In a dramatic though secret bid to end the cold war before it erupts into an atomic-hydrogen war, German and Austrian diplomats have urged a new peace-by-negotiation plan. They have sounded out Russia and the United States about withdrawing their forces from Germany and Austria.

The idea would be to break off contact between Russian and American forces in Europe, thereby reducing friction. Both sides would pull out of central Europe. Germany and Austria, in turn, would then guarantee strict neutrality in the power struggle between east and west.

The British, anxious to reduce tension in Europe, seem to favor the plan. They are talking about combining it with a nonaggression pact, which would bring an armistice in the cold war.

Fearful that the U. S. may not go along, the British will move to reduce the strains on Anglo-American unity by lining up more with U. S. policy in the Far East.

Broadway Angels Risk Flops, Back Long-Shot Stage Shows

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Life is not all halos and harps for the Broadway angels. Some of them lose their shirts — the gossamer ones—by backing shows that turn out to be devilishly bad.

Financing stage play is a big business, and a risky one. To put any sort of show on Broadway costs from $15,000 up. Most of them run somewhere around $50,000 and a big musical may cost $300,000. During a typical Broadway season, around 60 plays will take a stab at Broadway success.

If you figure the average cost at $50,000, that means that every year more than $3,000,000 must be raised to lift the curtains on these productions. Most of it comes from individuals, who will put anywhere from $50 up into the kitty. Rarely is a show financed by one or two investors, such as this year's "Me and Juliet," the Rodgers and Hammerstein hit. This show cost $300,000, and $187,500 came from RCA-Victor, the rest from R & H themselves.

Hit shows — financially speaking—are few and far between. A play may be an artistic success and lost money. It may even run for months and still be a loser. The 1952-53 season, for example, had 64 shows; only 12 made money, with eight others still listed as indefinite. The other 44 were financial flops.

* * *

Despite these odds, there always seem to be plenty of people willing and anxious to plunk down cash to keep the shows coming.

BONANZA: "South Pacific," with Mary Martin, got off to a typical R & H start.

Why? For two reasons. First, there's the glamor of show business. For $50, a ribbon clerk or cab driver can become a part of Broadway. Even if he realizes he'll probably lose the $50, he gets his money's worth in the thrill of following "his play." He studies the script, worries about the casting, reads the reviews, perhaps attends the dress rehearsal, gets to go to the first night.

And, secondly, there's the outside chance that he'll hit a bonanza. Some shows make millions. The classic example is "Life With Father," which cost $25,000 to produce and made $1,250,000. A $100 investment would have netted $5000, which is good netting in any business.

LONG-SHOT WINNER: "Stalag 17" surprised almost everybody.

"Oklahoma!" cost $90,000 to produce and has already returned a whopping $5,300,000 profit, and "South Pacific," which was put on for $225,000, has reached the $4,300,000 figure. Both of these are still coining money, too.

* * *

Backing plays is a lot like betting on the races. There are heavy favorites — any Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, for example, is classed as almost a "sure thing." Investors clamor for a chance to get a piece of an R & H show. And there are heavy favorites that lose, too—last year's Bette Davis revue, "Two's Company," took a bad licking.

And there are the long - shots that come in—most recent example was the outsider. "Stalag 17," which surprised everyone by being a solid hit. And there are plungers — one rich Pittsburgh man lost $50,000 on two musicals, "Make a Wish" and "Courtin' Time," then put another $25,000 in "Wonderful Town" and made back his losses.

Because of the dangers, some public-spirited producers won't accept any more than $50 per investor. But there are still plenty of fly - by - matinee sharpies around.

* * *

The best way for a rookie angel to protect his investment is to see who else is angeling. If he finds names like Howard Cullman or Rogers Stevens on the list of backers, there's a fair chance of success. It's not certain, of course.

When a producer decides to present a play, he first figures out how much the whole thing will cost — royalties for the author, salaries for the cast, rental for the theater, costumes, sets, music if any, stagehands, office help, cost of rehearsal halls, out-of-town tryouts. And there are plenty of etceteras. From $6000 to $10,000 of this money goes for bonds for actors' and stagehands' salaries and is returnable later.

But he must raise the entire sum in advance. Usually he puts some up himself. And he normally has friends and-or "steady customers" he can rely on for more. The rest comes from angels.

For their money, they get a percentage of the profits. If any. And they get a chance to feel like a patron of the arts. It's a nice feeling, but it's a tough way to make a buck.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

CLASH IN CULTURE—St. Louis, Mo., is the home town of Miss Helen Traubel, Metropolitan opera soprano who believes the Met has no corner on art.

In fact Miss Traubel told Met manager Rudolf Bing that it is "rank snobbery" to assert that art can be found in the Metropolitan opera house and not in a night club.

In fairness it should be reported that Mr. Bing did not say that art is bounded on the east, north, west and south by the walls of the Met. He just said he could understand that Miss Traubel's "two activities" of singing in night clubs and at the Met "do not really seem to mix very well."

Noted for her ability in Wagnerian roles, Miss Traubel let loose a Wagnerian blast that should not only shake Mr. Bing but also the foundation of American opera.

She not only hinted that Mr. Bing was a snob but that night club patrons were enthusiastically accepting her "on her own terms"—whatever that is. Probably has something to do with cash on the barrel head.

• • •

INVITED OUT—Of course Mr. Bing was quite unpardonable in suggesting that since Miss Traubel had not renewed her contract with the Met she might want to sit out in the night club circuit for a year or so until she wished to reutrn "to the more serious aspects of your art."

With true Missouri fervor Miss Traubel waved the American flag and the popular music of American composers and replied that since she couldn't sing them at the Met she was singing them in night clubs.

Mr. Bing retired at this point to gather his courage, perhaps fearing that he had gone too far in espousing opera (which is sung in foreign languages as well as English) and might be a fit subject for investigation by a Senate committee, which hasn't been doing too well lately with television audiences.

• • •

OPERALESS TRAUBEL—The question for the masses is one of limitless possibility. Can the opera survive without Traubel or Traubel without opera?

From night clubs to boxes in the gilded horseshoe the conversation will inevitably turn to various facets of the Traubel-Bing feud.

There will be those who will give vocal accompaniment to the soprano in her contention that opera is a high class entertainment to which the night club crowd is a stranger.

And there will be others who will point out, with equal logic, that if the night club habitues are really interested in Traubel they can hear her at the Met—singing opera of course.

In summary it might be pointed out that Traubel, the opera star singing popular songs, probably would get few night club bookings if she were not an opera star.

• • •

LOSS AND GAIN—With equal candor and without one aspersion against the great Traubel voice, it can be reported that if Traubel gave the night clubs too many blasts of Brunnhilde she would be invited out of the club as nonconformist.

Tastes differ, as Traubel well knows, and the only point of discussion is whether opera or popular music represents "the more serious aspects" of art.

Unlike some foreign countries (particularly Italy) where grand opera is a childhood musical experience, the people of the United States have a growing but still meager acquaintance with the art form.

But Traubel singing boogie is no doubt an improvement over the usual night club voice, so folks should be grateful. Conversely, the opera might gain prestige with the warbling of Frankie Lane, but we doubt it.

• • •

TRUE AMERICANA — Unfortunately Traubel in listing her great American composers overlooks those who have made contributions to so-called serious music.

But she is not in a serious mood and that is well. Traubel's taste is running to what she believes to be popular music. Unfortunately she will have to lower her sights still more to wail a hill billy tune or a western.

Give her time and she will be heard on the juke box hit parade, clowning with Hutton or out-yelling Martha Raye. It could happen only in a democracy.

Three Florida fishermen drifted five days and lived on beer alone, proving that wishes can come true.

Select Potato Samples Now

County Agricultural Agent Joseph L. Heirman today urged Delta County farmers to pick their samples for the Oct. 22 county potato show while digging their crops.

County Agent Heirman said it is practically impossible to pick show samples out of bins. It is too hard to find potatoes free of blemishes and uniform in size and shape.

Samples, declared the county agent, "can best be selected by walking up and down the rows that have been dug and picking these potatoes individually, and placing them in a basket or crate where they cannot be bruised, and letting them dry; and storing them away in a dark room where the light cannot get to them; because otherwise they'll turn green in color."

Before the show the exhibitor can brush up the selected potatoes and select the 32 he wants to exhibit. Heirman recommends he choose more than 32 to begin with, so he can pick the 32 best for the show.

Checking Acreage Yield

Table stock growers, Heirman advised, will exhibit a sample of 32 tubers, uniform in size and shape and free from defects and diseases. Tubers should weigh seven or eight ounces.

Each table stock grower will also exhibit a bushel of U. S. No. 1 potatoes. These may be taken from the bin after the crop has been harvested, Heirman said.

Certified seed growers will exhibit a sample of 128 tubers, uniform in size and shape and free from defects and diseases. Each tuber should weigh about seven ounces.

4-H boys and girls will exhibit a sample of 32 tubers, having the same qualifications required of table stock growers' samples.

Heirman and Fred Bernhardt, county 4-H agent, are checking potato yields today and will be doing so for about a week. In addition to showing off their prize potatoes, farmers also compete in the county show to see whose acreage yields the most potatoes.

Marinette Man Hurt In Crash

A Marinette man was reported in "pretty good" shape by his doctor this morning, following an auto crash Monday afternoon about 4 on US-2-41 about two miles west of the golf course at Hyde.

The sheriff's department, which investigated, said Lester B. Lindsay, 63-year-old salesman of 344 State St., Marinette, was taken to St. Francis Hospital in an ambulance after he fell asleep at the wheel of his car and woke up to find it out of control. The auto left the road and ran into some trees.

Lindsay suffered head lacerations but no bones were broken, so far as his doctor now knows. He remains in St. Francis Hospital.

The sheriff's depamtent estimated damage to the Marinette man's 1953 sedan at $900.00.

Mrs. Greenlease collapsed from strain and was under care of a physician. The Greenleases also have an 11-year-old daughter.

The boy was wearing a white short sleeved shirt and short brown linen trousers when taken away. He weighs about 53 pounds, has fair skin and light brown hair.

Greenlease, active in civic affairs, has been in the automobile distributing business for 45 years. He married Mrs. Greenlease, who is in her mid-40s, in 1939 after divorcing his first wife.

Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — Aircrafts enjoyed a buying flurry today in a rising stock market.

All major divisions of the market were up but the aircrafts were by far the best with gains going to better than a point. The remainder of the market showed changes running from fractional losses to gains of around a point.

Volume was at a pace near Monday's 1,150,000 shares.

The aircrafts were boosted along today by the government's decision to expand production of some of the newest jets. Air Force cutbacks, it was indicated, have been completed.

Among higher stocks were Nickel Plate, Southern California Edison, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Boeing, Douglas, North American Aviation, and Du Pont.

U. S. government securities were steady.

Horwood Will Address 4-H Members Tonight

Russell E. Horwood of Chatham will talk on "The Story of Okinawa" tonight in the junior high school when he addresses Delta County 4-H'ers at the 4-H Achievement Program which will wind up 4-H summer activities in the county for this year, County 4-H Agent Fred Bernhardt has announced. The program begins at 8.

Russell Horwood

The superintendent of Michigan State College's Chatham experiment station recently returned from two years on Okinawa, where he had admistrative duties, and also directed forestry and agricultural phases of a program at the University of the Ryukyus.

Horwood went to Okinawa in connection with a plan designed to transplant the basic philosophy and programs of America's land-grant college system to the Pacific university. The project was a phase of the U. S. orientation plan to provide a stable economy and democratic form of government to the occupied Ryukyu Islands.

Michigan Farmer Awards

Following the defeat of Japan Horwood spent a year in that nation where he had the job of studying Japan's agricultural program and setting up an extension program similar to that of the United States.

Tonight's program will also feature presentation of the Michigan Farmer Magazine Awards to the outstanding 4-H boy and outstanding 4-H girl in Delta County during the past year. The Delta County 4-H Council chooses winners of this award, referring to index cards which show records of every county 4-H'er.

Also prominent on the award list are several awards to clubs turning in the best secretaries' books for the year. In addition, individual awards for summer project achievement will be made.

Everell Miron of Cornell will tell about her trip to Washington, D. C., in June, when she attended National 4-H Club Camp. Miss Miron will show colored slides of her trip.

Program Given

The public is invited. Parents of 4-H'ers are particularly asked to come.

The complete program follows:

Pledge to American flag, led by Miss Edith Sundquist, Pine Ridge.

Pledge to 4-H flag, led by Miss Geraldine Miron, Cornell.

Talk, "Our Extension Program," by Joseph L. Heirman, county agricultural agent.

Song, "I'm Walking Behind You," by Miss Pat Hicks, Ford River. Talk, "National 4-H Club Camp," Miss Everell Miron, Cornell.

Presentation of home economics awards, Miss Ingrid Tervonen, county home demonstration agent.

Presentation of agricultural awards, by Fred C. Bernhardt, county 4-H agent.

Song, "Place in the Sun," by Miss Joyce Winling, Pine Ridge.

Talk, "The Story of Okinawa," by Russell E. Horwood.

Dates To Claim Checks For Job Insurance Changed

Because of federal budget cuts claimants for unemployment insurance will report only every other week instead of weekly as in the past, Whitney R. Dixon, branch manager of the Escanaba office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, has announced.

The change is effective immediately.

New claimants will report about two weeks after the date on which they file. If eligible they will receive waiting week credit and one benefit check.

Each reporting day after that, claimants will receive, if eligible, one check for two weeks' benefits.

If claimant returns to work on or before his next reporting date, the local office urges him to report as usual, not later than seven days from the date he was scheduled to report.

To file a claim the first time after an individual is laid off, the office asks him to come in on his first reporting day after his last day of work.

Dixon advised that all claimants will be scheduled on a two-week reporting basis within a week or so. He asked claimants to note the return appointment date on the identification card given them.

Claimants at the itinerant points in Gladstone and Manistique will also be placed on a two-week reporting schedule.

Gladstone will be serviced at Gladstone City Hall from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m. the first and third Tuesday of each month.

Manistique will be serviced at the Ossawinamakee Hotel, the second and fourth Thursday of each month.

Anyone wanting more information should contact the Escanaba office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission at 1323 Ludington St. Telephone is 2181.

VA Head Praises Vets Hospital In Iron Mountain

IRON MOUNTAIN—"This is an excellent hospital—not only for equipment and arrangement, but in the obvious efficiency of the staff, right down the line, through every department of the institution. Everything is clean, orderly and in splendid condition. It all reflects competent supervision and attention."

This was the tribute paid the Veterans Hospital in Iron Mountain by Harvey V. Higley administer of Veterans Affairs at Washington, following a recent inspection, with members of his staff. Accompanying the administrator here from Marinette, his home-town, were his son, Hugh; Admiral J. T. Boone, chief medical director of VA, and A. W. Woolford, director of publication for the VA at Washington.

Arriving here at about 11:30 Sunday morning, by automobile, the official party was met at the hospital by Dr. Carleton Bates, manager, and Wilfred E. Stonebraker, assistant manager. Others on hand to greet the administrator and staff, and who had arrived earlier to inspect the hospital, were Dr. Einar C. Andreasen, area VA medical director, stationed at Fort Snelling, St. Paul, and Dr. Donald D. McCarthy, chief of VA professional services for the area, also from Fort Snelling.

Over 350,000 Entered Sault From Canada

SAULT STE. MARIE — More than 350,000 tourists entered the Sault by way of the international ferries from Canada during the 1953 season the Chamber of Commerce announces.

The Chamber said that from January 1 to September 1, 479,636 people had entered the city from Canada. Officials estimated that about 210,000 would enter from September 1 through the end of the year, making a total of 689,636 for the year 1953. Of this number local traffic averages 25,000 a month. Slightly more than 200,000 cars had been checked through by the first of September. This traffic so far represents an increase of slightly more than five per cent over the 1952 figure.

Figures released by local officials show the following entries by months since January 1. January 25,892; February 25,745; March 30,950; April 35,162; May 52,515; June 70,320; July 109,086, August 129,966. The estimate for September was 90,000 persons.

Prior to June, 1950, when the war began, Korea ranked twelfth among countries of the world in population, with some 30 million inhabitants.

MANISTIQUE

Consider More Street Paving

Orson Livermore, acting city manager, Monday night was advised by the Manistique City Council to proceed with plans for blacktopping some Manistique streets this fall.

The manager reported that Glen Nord of Iron River has offered to lay blacktop for the city and that cost of the project would be approximately $7.70 per ton. He said the city would need 900 tons of gravel, which the county road commission will supply.

Scheduled for resurfacing if negotiations proceed favorably are a part of Oak St., west of Cedar Sts., Arbutus Ave., from Cedar to Pearl and Range St., from Arbutus to U. S. 2.

These projects will require 750 tons of gravel. Decision on where the remaining 150 tons will be used will be made later.

City Dam Not Harmed

About four days would be needed to do the work, Livermore reported.

The Council already has about $7500 in its budget for street work, and could use this sum to finance cost of the project.

Other business before the Council Monday night was as follows:

A report from the city manager that blasting in the Indian River has apparently not harmed the city's water supply dam, and a revision of his previous estimate on the durability of the dam. He said he had reinvestigated and believed the dam would be serviceable without repair for one year rather than two years.

Stand-By Electric Power

Agreed that water mains be installed on N. 8th St., and that installation of sewers be made later as a special assessment project.

Heard a petition that the Council take action to curb speeding on Manistique Ave., and moved to ask the police chief to investigate.

Instructed the city manager to investigate on radio interference in the city and determine if it is caused by faulty transformers and electric lines.

Heard a report from Mayor Vernon Linderoth, who said he had been advised that the Manistique Pulp and Paper company would not renew its contract to supply emergency electrical power to the city, when Edison Sault Power fails. The paper company's contract with the Edison Sault company will expire soon, Linderoth said. The Council asked that the city attorney study the power contract and the company's franchise and report to the Council for a review of provisions for stand-by electrical service.

Special Assessments

City-Wide Petitions Slated On Telephone Rate Increase Here

A delegation of about 10 Manistique residents appeared before the city council Monday night to protest the recent telephone rate increase, and to ask if circulation of petitions, to be presented to the Michigan Public Service Commission would help the council in its efforts to get improved telephone service in the city.

Atty. William Hood reported that he had been informed the Michigan Public Service Commission had asked the General Telephone company of Michigan to show cause why its rates should not be lower, and is rescheduling hearings.

The city attorney advised the council that it was almost impossible for the city to do anything alone and that hiring of experts to present testimony on the adequacy of the company's rate would be too expensive.

The council suggested that the petitions to the MPSC would be in order and indicated it would proceed with a petition of its own. Councilmen have criticized telephone service in the city and hold that residents "do not get what theyre paying for."

Several petitioners at the council meeting last night indicated they had had their telephones disconnected, and would not pay the increased rates. Some asked that Bell Telephone company be asked to install an exchange in the city.

In addition to fine and costs, Jackson was ordered to make restitution of $10 for damage to the sign. Alternative in the sentence was 20 days in jail.

Another motorist, who damaged a parking meter on Deer St., was ticketed Sept. 26 for failure to have his car under control. The motorist, Josiah Polkinghorne, 74, of Dearborn, was fined $3 and assessed court costs of $2.

New Industry Proposed Here

Manistique City Council, in regular meeting Monday night, indicated it would be in favor of location of a sawmill in the old barrel factory building near the Soo Line depot.

Frank Schwartz of Detroit, who operates a chicken farm in Hiawatha township, appeared before the Council to outline plans for establishment of a sawmill in the building, in partnership with William Arnold of Manistique.

Schwartz wanted to know if the city had any zoning restrictions on use of the property and whether the city would permit the mill to tap into sewers at the factory site.

The council indicated it favored new industry in Manistique and would be "more likely to help rather than hinder" plans the two men had.

Schwartz, who stated he is in experimental work for auto companies in the Detroit area, said he had contemplated locating a factory in Manistique. He noted that "you have a wonderful labor market up here, but you are far away from everything." Schwartz also indicated the latter situation may be remedied if a bridge is built across the straits.

The Hiawatha township farmer said he already has purchased the factory site from Mrs. John Heric, and that he plans to drain off backwater from a flowing well.

He said his plans call for "as nice a mill as you ever saw" and that he and Arnold would start as soon as details of the partnership agreement had been worked out.

Schwartz said he would financially sponsor the enterprise, and that the project will get underway very rapidly.

In outlining plans, Schwartz indicated he would use old foundations at the site to build a log washing pool, which would be heated in winter.

Council Orders Police Radio

Manistique City Council Monday night voted 3-1 for purchase of a 60-watt radio unit complete with alternator for use of the city police department.

The equipment, according to information presented by a radio company, will be delivered in 42 days.

Hook-up for the police radio here will be operated with a base unit at the Michigan State Police post and the two law enforcement units will cooperate in operation of the radio system.

Councilmen A. W. Heitman, Vernon Linderoth and Dr. James Fyvie voted in favor of the radio purchase, and Councilman W. G. Stephens voted against it. Councilman Walter Burns was absent.

Cost of the radio unit will be $541 and of the alternator, $157.15.

Other purchases approved by the City Council Monday night were as follows:

25 tons of rock salt at $20.60 per ton, F. O. B. Manistique and 50 tons of calcium chloride, at $27 a ton, F. O. B. Midland, for use on icy streets this winter. The supplying company was not specified.

75 tons of stoker coal at $14.25 per ton from Girvin Coal and Dock company and 50 tons of lump coal at $14.75 per ton from Manistique Lumber company.

Censorship Of Books Is Rapped By Speaker

Political censorship of reading material was discussed for members of the Manistique Rotary club, at its regular meeting Monday, by Samuel Molod of Escanaba, U. P. library consultant.

Molod emphasized that only by reading anti-democratic propaganda," filled with inaccuracies and lies," can the arguments be brought into the open and analyzed for what they are.

"To keep it hidden is to play their game," Molod declared. He added that Communism and Fascism have been described over and again as "creeping cancer" and that the only way it can be "cut out is when it is in the open."

Must Know Ideologies

The library consultant observed that there is a prevaling notion, evident in many communities, that if books and ideologies are withdrawn from the shelf, "maybe people won't think or talk about it."

The idea is completely erroneous, Molod declared.

He pointed out that many communities remove books or authors from library shelves when authors have appeared before Congressional committees and obviously have a "pinkish tinge."

"In schools we expect youngsters to hate fascism and Communism, but we don't give them an opportunity to read and know what these ideologies are about," he noted.

Molod asserted that he felt the United States was doing a good job in selling the concept of Americanism and that schools and teachers should be commended for the stand they have taken on the American way of life.

Where Did We Fail?

"But that is only half of the battle—the easy half," Molod stated. The world isn't purely American, and only by understanding the 'isms' can students honestly reject one and accept the other, the library consultant declared.

Molod said he was concerned that 45 Americans from average communities have embraced Communism completely in Korea and asked: "Where did we fail—What is it that we didn't give them."

U. S. Not Beloved

Events such as these aren't new in American history or in wars, the consultant said, but this "obviously shows we aren't doing as thorough a job as we pretend to be doing."

According to reports, the Soviet Union is capitalizing on this "betrayal of American ideals," Molod noted, and he asked his audience to consider where it was that the United States failed with these men. "Was it in school, in social or community relations, or what?" he queried.

Molod warned his Manistique audience that they shouldn't "get the idea we're beloved in Europe, for if the brutal truth were told, we'd know we were hated."

Uphold Freedom

"It is disheartening to note that after pouring billions of dollars into France and Italy, four to ten in these countries vote Communist," he observed.

The library consultant also emphasized that whenever "you read something that is one-sided, you can be sure there is another side which makes people just as firm in their belief."

He concluded by urging that all avenues of expression be kept open and that the fundamental privilege of freedom which is "yours by right" and the cornerstone of our way of life be upheld.

The speaker, who addressed an audience of 45, was introduced by J. Mauritz Carlson of Manistique.

Molod will return here Oct. 13 for a meeting with the school board and the library board, and again Oct. 22 for a meeting at Gulliver to discuss extension of county library service through bookmobiles.

Circuit Court Now Underway

The September term of Circuit Court in Schoolcraft County opened at 2 p. m., Monday and jurors for the term were dismissed by Judge Herbert W. Runnels.

One criminal case, that of the People versus Paul W. McPherson, a desertion case continued for sentence was passed on motion of William J. Sheahan, proescuting attorney; and another criminal case, that of the People versus Harold E. Gauthier, also a desertion action continued for sentence, was continued.

Lawsuits Continued

Sentencing of Jack Beaudoin in a manslaughter case continued for sentence was deferred by Judge Runnels until Wednesday, Oct. 7, when he will pass sentence at Sault Ste. Marie.

The only other criminal case on the calendar, that of the People versus Alfred Swanson, was remanded by the court to justice court on motion of the prosecuting attorney, because the offense is a misdemeanor.

Three civil suits were continued when the calendar was called Monday afternoon and one case, that of John Dougherty versus John Slack, motion for discovery, was scheduled to be heard Wednesday.

Case Dismissed

The law suits which were continued are Mario P. Marchetti versus Lawrence Foye, default, Otto W. Heinone and Western Fire Insurance Co., versus Werner Ammann, trespass on the case; and Sylvia Heinonen versus Werner Ammann, trespass on the case.

Two divorce cases were ready for action this term and one other chancery cases, that of Bessie Bloom versus Marguerite McNeil, assumpsit, was continued.

Judge Runnels granted a continuance in one law case in which there has been no action for one year, passed five, scheduled one for later in the term, and dismissed one, that of the People's State Bank of Munising versus Virgil and Grace Faircloth.

The law case continued was that of Reuben L. Maurits versus C. L. Akin; and those passed were William J. Rogers versus Clyde and Bernice Rogers, Zurick General Accident and Liability company, subrogee of Fred Hagenbuck versus Lawrence Wilson; Dominic Loia versus Manistique and Lake Superior Railway; Joseph Angera versus Manistique and Lake Superior Railway, and Freda J. Peterson versus William D. and Helen S. Graff.

The case to be heard later this term is that of M. E. O'Brien versus Robert and Roy R. Graves.

Hope To Clean Docket

Four chancery suits in which there has not been action in one year were stricken, two were passed, one was continued and another, a divorce action, was moved ready for trial. Of the chancery suits dismissed three were divorce cases and the other was that of Donald S. Leonard, as Michigan State Police commissioner, versus John A. and Ingrid Raffay.

After the calendar was called, Judge Runnels Monday opened an Alger County term of court to hear a divorce case.

The Sault Ste. Marie judge is serving his last term, and will be succeeded in January by Atty. Richard Nebel of Munising.

Yesterday, Judge Runnels informed the court he sought to dispose of as many cases on the docket as he could.

Mueller Township Approves Town Hall

The largest number of voters ever to turn out for a special election in Mueller Township history voted a strong yes Monday on three propositions including one to finance construction of a combined town hall and community center, Fay Patterson, town clerk, reported.

There were 53 yes votes and 25 no votes on a proposition to have the township issue bonds of $51,000.00 to finance construction of the combined town hall and community center.

A proposal to raise the tax mill limitation five mills for 12 years to pay for the new town hall carried with 59 yes votes to 36 no votes.

The third proposal, to transfer two acres of cemetery property for relocation of state highway 77, also carried with 63 yes votes to 28 no votes.

Total turnout was 101 votes. There are about 250 votes in Mueller Township, Patterson said.

An election board consisting of Fay Patterson, chairman, and Edward La Rose and Emil Price counted the votes Monday night.

The Board of Canvassers, made up of the township officers, met afterwards and canvassed the votes. Township officers who met were Mrs. Olga Freeland, treasurer; Patterson, town clerk; and two trustees, Price and La Rose.

Wells Bowers, supervisor, is out of town.

90.8% Of Farms Now Electrified

Nearly 150,000 farms in the United States were electrified during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1953, bringing the percentage of all electrified farms to 90.8, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today. A year ago the percentage of all farms electrified was 88.1 per cent. (The number of farms estimated to have been electrified in the last year was 147,611.)

The estimate, compiled by the Rural Electrification Administration, shows that on June 30 there were 4,888,460 farms connected to lines of all power suppliers, leaving a total of 493,674 still unelectrified. The annual REA estimate of unelectrified farms is required by law as a basis for alloting a portion of REA electrification loan funds to the several States. The estimate is based on the number of farms shown in 1950 census reports.

In addition to the 493,674 farms without service, REA estimates that about half that number of other rural establishments, such as non farm rural homes, schools and churches, are unelectrified.

Michigan High

Three states passed the 99 per cent mark during the year. Michigan now has 99.9 per cent of farms electrified, Indiana 99.3 per cent and Washington 99.1 per cent. Altogether, 27 states are above the national average of 90.8 per cent, and 20 states are below. Arizona's percentage of farms electrified is the same as the national average.

Several southern and western states have made particularly notable gains in farm electrification since June 30, 1952. South Dakota showed the biggest gain—6.6 per cent—bringing its percentage to 87.5. Other top states in percentage gains included Montana, 6.1 per cent; New Mexico 6 per cent; Tennessee, 5.1 per cent; Colorado and Mississippi, 5 per cent.

The REA program was started in 1935, when 10.9 per cent of all farms were electrified. Of the farms now connected to power lines, 2,631,047 are now served by rural power systems financed by REA. Most of the remainder are served by commercial utility companies, and the others by various public bodies, such as municipalities or public power districts.

In announcing the new estimates, REA Administrator Abcher Nelsen recommended an aggressive program, by both REA borrowers and other power suppliers, to complete the farms electrification job and meet the growing electric power needs of rural people.

Alabama Files Suit For Coast Oil Lands

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alabama has followed Arkansas, but with a different complaint, in asking the Supreme court to rule unconstitutional the 1953 law giving coastal states title to offshore submerged oil lands.

In a suit filed Saturday, Alabama contended its fishermen will not be able to operate in the Gulf of Mexico areas to which Texas, Florida and Louisiana hold title without paying those states license fees.

The states, the Alabama suit said, plan such regulations under the "tidelands" legislation.

Alabama also used Arkansas' argument that the billions of dollars in offshore land resources, chiefly oil, belong to all the states, not just to those on the coast.

J. T. Jones Will Entertain Club

Next Monday members of the Gladstone Rotary club will be guests of James T. Jones at the annual 'bird' hunt and dinner at Round Lake Club. Each year on the first Monday of partridge season, Mr. Jones has entertained Rotarians at Round Lake. As a result the usual noon luncheon will not be held.

Pre-School Tots Get Check-Ups

Examination of pre-school children was conducted Monday and Tuesday at the Central and Buckeye schools by Dr. William Harrison, head of the Delta-Menominee County Health Unit.

Between 75 and 80 youngsters will have been examined when the work is completed late this afternoon.

Assisting Dr. Harrison is Miss Elizabeth Nelson, school nurse, and students Mary Alice Cameron, Jeannie DeHooghe and Marlene DeMars.

The purpose of the preschool exams is to determine what, if any, physical defects exist in the children about to start school so that recommendation may be made to parents for correction.

In this manner the child may begin his school work on a par with others in his grade, not under the handicap that might exist if some physical defect is present.

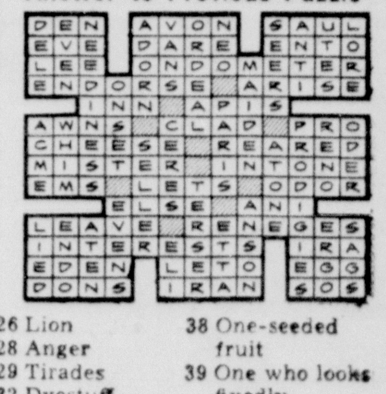
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Mark Trail — By Ed Dodd

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The handsome black haired son of a former college football coach was named today as University of Michigan's star of the week.

He's Louis Baldacci, 196-pound sophomore who made his debut as the quarterback who directed the 50-0 rout of the University of Washington Saturday.

Baldacci was honored by the Associated Press for the scintillating performance he gave as Michigan's first sophomore quarterback in 15 years and one of the few in Michigan's 74-year gridon history.

Surprised His Coaches

The son of former Akron University coach Paul Baldacci, the newcomer surprised Coach Bennie Oosterbaan with his poise and imagination on offense and his heads up defensive play.

"We were all surprised at his lack of mistakes," said the Michigan coach.

Besides directing the team like a veteran, the 6-foot 19-year-old threw one pass for 33 yards, caught two passes for 21 yards, scored a touchdown, and preserved Michigan's shutout by cutting down Washington's 70-yard kickoff return 18 yards away from the Michigan end zone.

Calls Own Play

Typical of the poise shown by Baldacci was his play when Michigan, with a slim 7-0 lead, was parked on the Washington seven. He cooly called his own signal, raced into the end zone and took the pass from halfback Ted Kress that sent Michigan on its way.

Baldacci showed well with the Michigan freshmen a year ago and was regarded as a boy with fine potential. However, as is the case with most sophomores, there was some concern over his reaction to game pressure.

He dispelled those doubts by guiding the Wolverines to their biggest victory margin since a 54-0 win piled on Indiana by Michigan's undefeated 1948 team.

For this, and establishing the feeling among teammates, coaches and fans that Michigan's squad has a strong leader, Baldacci was named Wolverine Star of the Week.

Del Webb Hopes To Send Brownies To West Coast

NEW YORK (AP)—Co-owner Del Webb of the New York Yankees, representing a western group, was set today to resume negotiations to purchase the St. Louis Browns with hopes of transferring the franchise to the Pacific Coast.

A Baltimore group also had a strong bid in for the Browns' controlling stock. Webb was instrumental in blocking Baltimore's attempt to buy the Browns' franchise Sunday.

Unable to reach a decision Monday night on the fate of the Browns, American League owners scheduled another meeting at 3 p. m. (CST).

The American League did come to two concrete decisions Monday night after four hours of bickering and haggling with Brownie president Bill Veeck and his associates, who own the majority stock of the Browns.

1. It authorized Webb to negotiate on behalf of unnamed interests for the 79 per cent control of the Brownie stock held by Veeck.

2. It announced, through president Will Harridge, that there definitely would be no American League baseball in St. Louis in 1954.

Veeck, balked in his attempt to move the Browns to Baltimore, said he would sell out for $2,400,000.

Baltimore made a firm offer of $2,236,000 for Veeck's controlling bloc of stock, estimated at just short of 200,000 shares.

There was a possibility the league might settle for Kansas City if Los Angeles and Baltimore lose out. Kansas City, an American Association farm club of the Yankees has made a formal application for the St. Louis franchise.

Webb declined to disclose the identity of the group he was representing but it generally was presumed he was negotiating for buyers from the West Coast. A Los Angeles group, headed by Mayor Norris Poulsen, promised to put up $2,500,000 within the next few days and said it could raise $6,000,000 within 10 days.

"If I were a newspaperman," Harridge said, "I would write that the Browns will operate in either Los Angeles, Kansas City or Baltimore in 1954."

One of the major problems confronting the pro-Los Angeles people is the fact that Phil Wrigley, owner of the National League Chicago Cubs, also owns the Los Angeles franchise. Wrigley would have to agree to sell to ease the way. If Wrigley were to refuse to sell, the American League could draft Los Angeles from the Pacific Coast League through complicated procedure. It was estimated such action would cost from 3½ to 7 million dollars.

Name Notre Dame No. 1 Grid Team

NEW YORK (AP)—Mighty Notre Dame, despite the protestations of coach Frank Leahy that the Irish would be sub-par, was rated today the No. 1 football team in the country.

Most of the sports writers and sportscasters polled by The Associated Press were impressed with the manner in which the Irish whipped Oklahoma, 28 - 21, last Saturday. The Sooners were ranked sixth before the season started and were rated one of the toughest foes of the season for Notre Dame, also pre-season No.1.

Michigan State, the mythical national champion last year —and the No. 1 team virtually throughout that season — was tabbed for second. The Spartans, in the Big Ten for the first time, had trouble beating Iowa, 21-7.

Notre Dame, which finished third in last season's national rankings, got 71 of the 98 first place votes cast. This was good for a total of 907 points on the basis of 10 first place, nine for second and so on down the line.

Michigan State collected six firsts and 692 points.

The top ten (figures in brackets indicate number of first place votes):

1-Notre Dame (71)	907
2-Michigan State (6	692
3-Maryland (5)	501
4-Michigan (3)	403
5-UCLA (3)	391
6-Ohio State (2)	380
7-Southern California (1)	346
8-Oklahoma	316
9-Georgia Tech	242
10-Baylor	188

The second ten: 11-Mississippi State; 12-Duke; 13-West Virginia; 14-Rice; 15-Mississippi; 16-Wisconsin; 17-Texas; 18-Georgia; 19-Louisiana State; 20-Holy Cross.

CHICAGO (AP)—Briefs from the Midwest football training camps:

MINNESOTA — The varsity scrimmaged against Michigan State offensive and defensive formations. Second string quarterback Don Swanson, who was hurt in the Southern California game, may be out for the season.

MICHIGAN STATE — The Spartans, hit by a rash of minor injuries, worked out only lightly in preparation for the Minnesota game. Quarterback Tom Yewcic missed the session because of a twisted right knee.

OHIO STATE — Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, Buckeye halfback whose right shoulder was injured in Saturday's 36-12 victory over Indiana, may see only limited action against California at Berkeley Saturday. An X-ray report showed no fracture or separation.

NORTHWESTERN — The Wildcats are at full strength for Army's invasion Saturday. Halfback Bob Mc Keiver and guard Dan Kachaturoff, who missed the Iowa State game because of injuries, rejoined the squad Monday.

ILLINOIS — The Illini, now preparing for Stanford, came out of its 21-21 tie with Nebraska without injury.

NOTRE DAME — Halfback Johnny Lattner, suffered a recurrence of an ankle injury in the Oklahoma game.

INDIANA — Left end John Zuger, who suffered a twisted foot in the Hoosiers' loss to Ohio State, is a doubtful starter against Southern California.

IOWA — Coach Forest Evashevski demoted three first string lettermen following Iowa's 21-7 loss to Michigan State. Those replaced are Bob Stearnes and quarterback Lou Matykiewicz.

One of the Upper Peninsula football attractions this weekend will be the Iron River-Stambaugh clash Saturday night at Stambaugh . . Both teams are undefeated . . Coach Harry Monson's Redskins whipped Kingsford 35-6 Friday to stay in the unbeaten ranks . . Little Eddie Vergara raced for three of the Iron River TDs against the Flivvers.

Pat Cvengros scored one touchdown and kicked two extra points as Ironwood belted Bessemer 44-6 Friday night . . In Marinette Sunday night, football fans were still stunned by the 35-0 shellacking handed the Marines by the East Chicago team on Saturday night . . "The team looked like a college club," was the remark of Jim Gleason, Marinette Eagle-star sports editor.

It's just a part of history now, but you'd never be able to convince a lot of Escanaba fans and some of the players that Bill Caley didn't go out of bounds on the second Menominee touchdown run here Saturday afternoon . . Caley scored on a 33-yard sprint down the sideline in front of the grandstand . . Just before he crossed the goal line Caley slipped by Eskymo Dale Manske who lunged at the runner . . A lot of people thought Caley's foot stirred up chalk dust on the sideline, but the officials didn't agree.

Dick Bonifas, Manistique grid coach, was mighty pleased with the Emerald victory over Newberry Saturday . . The Indians had snapped Manistique's victory string earlier in the season by a 19-6 margin and Bonifas was especially happy with the defensive showing of his charges in the second game, which the Emeralds won 19-0.

And Don Pfotenhauer, Gladstone grid mentor, heaved a vast sigh of relief when his Braves pushed a touchdown over against Marquette Saturday night . . When fullback Joe Corbiel ploughed over from the two-yard line in the fourth period it was the first time Gladstone had dented an opponent's goal line this season.

The St. Joe Trojans, in four starts this season, have played in nothing but shutouts . . The Trojans blanked Gladstone, Bark River and Lourdes and were blanked in return by the Stambaugh Hilltoppers . . A familiar St. Joe pattern has already been broken this season . . For the past two years the Trojans have lost their first two games of the season and then finished the remaining six undefeated.

Tom Gregoire, outstanding right end on the Escanaba Eskymo team, gets his share of football injuries, probably as the result of his all-out efforts in every game . . His latest jolt in the Menominee game was not serious and he was released from St. Francis Hospital after observation.

* * * * *

St. Joe moved the ball a long way against Lourdes Sunday night without the benefit of a single penalty . . The Trojans were penalized a total of 65 yards (plus several penalties refused by the Lourdes Shamrocks) while Lourdes did not receive a penalty from officials Ken Radick and Bob Noonan, Menominee, and Ron Blomberg, Peshtigo . . Incidentally, that safety was the first ever scored by a St. Joe team coached by Tom St. Germain, he said after the game.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — The Yankees are going into the World Series a worried baseball club. They are wondering if they will shake off the batting slump which has gripped them since they clinched the flag.

The Bombers scored only five runs in their last four games.

On Friday Mel Parnell of the Boston Red Sox shut out Stengel's crew on four hits. Saturday Maury McDermott trimmed them 2-1 in 11 innings. Sunday still another southpaw, Bill Henry, limited the five-time champs to a single hit before a blistered finger forced him to retire in the ninth.

Perhaps luckily for the Yanks, Charlie Dressen has only one left-hander of real class, the veteran Preacher Roe. After his scheduled stint in the second game it is possible the Yankees will not have to face lefty pitching again short of a seven-game series.

Taking this into consideration, together with a feeling that the American Leaguers are bound to break loose with their mallets sooner or later, we'll have to stick with them to wrap it up in six games.

In fact, having watched Reynolds, Lopat, Vic Raschi and Whitey Ford pitch their final tune-ups, we can't exactly see where the Dodgers are going to get their two victories.

Taylor Studies Appeal In Ineligibility Case

LANSING (AP)—The testimony of 10 high school athletes suspended for accepting merchandise prizes and their applications for reinstatement today were under study by Dr. Clair L. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction.

Under virtual orders from the Legislative Committee on Administrative Rules, Dr. Taylor personally reheard the cases Monday. Six athletes from Hastings, two from Escanaba, and one each from Menominee and St. Clair had been suspended for a year by the executive committee of the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

Dr. Taylor, who has the final jurisdiction over high school athletics, indicated he may have a decision by the end of the week.

Didn't Know Rules

Donald Murwin, the Menominee youth, did not attend, but Dr. Taylor read a letter in which he asked for reinstatement. Superintendent M. W. Robinson of Menominee, however, said the penalty was drastic but acceptable to the school.

In their testimony, all the youths present, their school officials and their attorneys emphasized that they accepted the prizes in ignorance of the rules, that they returned them as soon as questions arose and that they reported the incidents honestly and promptly.

William Le Mire Jr., of Escanaba High School and David Hirn of Escanaba St. Joseph testified to the circumstances of their accepting and then returning two pairs of sox and a sport shirt as prizes in a golf tournament. Murwin had also received a prize in the same tournament.

Reported Own Case

Walter Le Croix, a senior at St. Clair High School, said he reported his case after the publicity surrounding the other cases. He was suspended last week. He said he accepted a $3.50 merchandise certificate and a $7 trophy in a summer swimming tournament.

The Hastings youths were Jack Chadwick, Robert Anderson, Shannon Lydy, Richard Hammond and William Hoffman, all seniors, and Bernard Bowman, a junior.

They said they received a $2.41 "reject" fishing rod from the sponsor of a summer softball team.

The Escanaba, St. Joseph's Church and Hastings school authorities all added their formal applications for reinstatement to those of the students.

Chicago White Sox Buy Memphis Player

CHICAGO (AP) — Ed White, .330-hitting righthanded outfielder for Memphis, was bought today by the Chicago White Sox.

White, 6-1, 202-pounder, was the third leading batsman of the Southern Association this season. The 27-year-old university of Alabama graduate hit 10 homers and 13 triples.

The Sox sold Gene Bearden, veteran lefty, to Charleston of the American Association. Bearden had a 3-3 pitching record for the Sox this season.

The White Sox also purchased Dick Strahs, a pitcher from Memphis in the Southern Association. Strahs has been in the White Sox farm chain since his graduation from Evanston, Ill., High school in 1946. He won 16 and lost eight for Memphis this year.

Giardello Favored Over John Saxton

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Joe Giardello, South Philadelphia middleweight, is a 7-5 favorite tonight in his 10-round match with Johnny Saxton of Brooklyn at the Philadelphia Arena.

Saxton, hot after Kid Gavilan's welter crown, at 150 will spot his opponent about five pounds. Giardello is a contender for a match with the winner of the Bobo Olsen-Randy Turpin middleweight championship bout.

The bout will neither be televised nor broadcast.

Arm And Finger May Be World Series Keys

NEW YORK (AP)—Allie Reynold's right arm and Carl Furillo's aching "pinky" may hold the key to the New York Yankee-Brooklyn World Series opening Wednesday at Yankee Stadium.

If Reynolds can flash his 1952 form against the Dodgers' Carl Erskine in the opener, the 6 to 5 odds favoring the Yankees probably will lengthen.

Reynolds simply blew his fast ball past Dodgers sluggers like Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella and Gil Hodges last year. But until the final weeks of this season, he was only a pale carbon of his old self.

Can Soon Tell

"We'll know after the first two innings whether he still has it," said Dodger Manager Chuck Dressen at Monday's stadium workout. "I saw him pitch last week when he struck out 11 but he was throwing the curve - not that 1952 fast ball."

Stengel's pitching plans are set with Reynolds, Eddie Lopat and Vic Raschi in that order although he insists on a "Raschi or Ford" call for the No. 3. Obviously, he counts on Reynolds to come back for No. 4 and possibly even for No. 7 if it goes that far.

Furillo, who tested his well-bandaged hand in a special 15-minute batting practice, fully intends to play. There always remains the possibility that he might reinjure the hand or find it impossible to swing hard in a real ball game.

The finger was broken in a fist fight with Leo Durocher Sept. 6.

Broke In Fight

If Furrillo does have to miss the series, the Dodgers would be seriously crippled. The National League batting champion also is a fine defensive player.

The Yanks still were a bit concerned about Gene Woodling, whose hand was swollen from an injury received two weeks ago. Gene, using a padded bat in batting practice, hit two or three balls into the right field seats.

Wednesday's game, starting at 12:05 p. m. CST, will be broadcast by Mutual and televised by NBC.

Players Win New Rights From Executive Council

NEW YORK (AP) —Ralph Kiner and Allie Reynolds, major league players representatives, gained some long sought concessions on working conditions Monday from baseball's executive council.

The Chicago Cubs' slugger and the New York Yankee pitcher failed, however, to get immediate action on their pension plan proposals.

The council named a committee to study the proposed pension charges and report back next spring.

The players asked that pensions now ranging from at $50 a month for five-year men to $100 a month for 10-year men, be increased to $80-$150. They also requested that annuities start at age 45 rather than the present 50 and proposed that the players contributions be reduced. They now range from $45 to $400 a year.

The council did approve increased allowance for moving; agreed that a player be paid the full hotel rate if permitted to live elsewhere during spring training; a player shall not be required to pay for surgery for illness or injury suffered outside the line of baseball duty; each player should receive $8 daily for meal money while on the road, and a player will reach a veterans status after eight years instead of the present 10.

The players also asked the council to recommend an increase in minimum salary from $5,000 to $7,200 a year. The council decided to pass this request onto the owners without recommendation.

KINSEY DID IT!
SO DO WE
We dare to reveal the most intimate secrets from the past lives of these lovelies.

PRISCILLA PONTIAC: Born in 1952, married to one affectionate owner until two weeks ago. She's a shiny grey beauty 4-door sedan with low mileage. She's got that slick Hydromatic transmission with lots of heat and speaks with a musical voice. Where else can you get a companion like this for only $1,665.00?

CHARLOTTE CHEVY: She's only 18 months old and a beautiful two-toned baby. She has practically her whole life before her. She can be made very happy with a life companion—yours for only $1,395.00.

HARRIET HUDSON: She's had some hard knocks in her five years of traveling around but she looks like a million with her new dress. We have fed her some vitamins and she's got lots of life in her old chassis. Her marriage license will cost you only $495.00.

FANNY FORD: From her looks you would take her for a 3-year-old instead of a 5. She's wearing a beautiful black dress, rings on her fingers and bells on her toes. A long term engagement with Fanny will only cost you $695.00.
